

We must continue the serious work of being faithful to our values!

The recent election results only underscored the vital role for those of us who are firmly pro-choice and fiercely protective of our religious freedom. The results of this or any other election will not change our basic commitments as people of faith and justice.

Rev. Carlton Veazey, President and CEO of the Religious Coalition writes: "We are at our strongest when we focus on the well being of women, children, and families and our positive vision of a compassionate society where all are welcome as sisters and brothers. There is no question that we must continue to be moral leaders and advocates for those who need us most. If we always keep in our mind's eye the faces of real people who struggle to make the best decisions they can in the face of profound moral complexities, we can transform our world into a place of justice."

They express their appreciation over and over again, grateful that we have an ad openly saying that people of all religious traditions support and value reproductive freedom. We thought you'd like to know your generous support of this Anniversary Ad is appreciated not only by the Oklahoma Religious Coalition, but also by grateful readers, and helps them express their values too.
